Working together is success.”*

-Henry Ford

Quest for Success

“A team is a highly effective, cohesive group of individuals who work together with a commitment to reach a common goal.”

Develop High Performance Teams

To enjoy success in today's rapidly changing world and intense competitive environment, decision makers and their teams must reach challenging objectives faster and in more creative, productive ways. The true competitive advantage your organization has is the ability of your people to work effectively as a team.

Experiential Learning

The Quest for Success Teamworks program is one such initiative. It's a unique opportunity for your group to develop team performance skills within an experiential training environment.

“Tell me and I will forget, show me and I might remember, involve me and I will understand.”

-Confucius

Transferable Skills and Behaviors

The program will take your people through a series of interactive individual and group exercises that will allow them to identify and experience the four pillars of effective teamwork. They can then transfer these experiences back into your organizational activities resulting in the enhancement of a number of key skills and behaviors.

A Comprehensive Program

The Teamworks program utilizes the totally absorbing Laser Quest “laser tag” experience to demonstrate the pillars of teamwork firsthand. The program also encompasses a variety of support materials including:

- a workbook that each participant utilizes throughout the session
- video components that highlight the learning objectives
- an on-site Laser Quest Manager to coordinate the activities
- a detailed guide to assist the group's organizer or leader in maximizing the program's benefits

Any effective team must have a strong foundation to which your group will experience succeed. That foundation is made up of four pillars through the Teamworks program.

Fun

The first thing your people will learn to do is have fun. It may seem frivolous, but when members of a team have fun, it helps reduce negative stress, encourages creative thinking and makes group members more adaptable to change.

"You can learn more about a person in an hour's worth of play than in a day of conversation."

-Plato

Communication

Before individuals can function successfully as a team, they must be able to communicate effectively. The Teamworks program stresses the importance of equal and open input and promotes listening skills.

"Communication works for those who work at it."

-John Powell

Cooperation

In order for any team's action plan to be successfully implemented, cooperation is essential. The Teamworks program demonstrates how this can be accomplished through group participation, problem solving and decision making.

"It is through cooperation, rather than conflict, that your greatest successes will be derived."

-Ralph Charell

Trust

When working in a group, individuals must learn to trust their fellow members if they are to be successful as a team. With the Teamworks program, your group will see how a commitment to trust can produce team values, positive relationships and a sense of empowerment for all members.

"Trust is the lubrication that makes it possible for organizations to work."

-Warren Bennis
